GENERAL INFORMATION

John A. Gupton College has a distinguished history. Founded in 1946 by John A. Gupton and Bernadean Gupton, the co-educational, nonsegregated proprietary school in Nashville, Tennessee, began offering a program of study leading to a diploma in the field of Mortuary Science. John A. Gupton College was incorporated as a nonprofit organization in 1965. Originally located at 2507 West End Avenue, the college is now housed in a new, modern facility located at 1616 Church Street.

In keeping with the philosophy of educating the total person, John A. Gupton College has been accredited by both the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges* since 1971 and the American Board of Funeral Service Education* since 1946. The College offers an accredited Associate of Arts Degree in Funeral Service, an Associate of Applied Science Degree in Funeral Service, and a non-accredited Funeral Director Certificate program. The Certificate program meets the State of Tennessee educational requirements for a funeral director.

Gupton College was the first independent institution of Funeral Service Education to earn regional accreditation and thus be able to offer a course of study leading to the Associate of Arts Degree. The College's pursuit of regional accreditation indicates its role as a pioneer in the educational community in which it serves.

The curriculum is designed on the collegiate level, with the dual purpose of fulfilling the needs of both students who wish to eventually pursue other degrees and of those going directly into Funeral Service. Since 1968, Gupton graduates have been transferring to senior colleges and pursuing advanced degrees. To both groups, Gupton offers the opportunity for a liberal arts education and the continuing commitment toward educating professionals who are capable of the change inherent in growth.

Located in the heart of Nashville's academic community, John A. Gupton College reflects a rich heritage of academic excellence and provides a facility that is comfortably conducive to effective learning. The facility houses administrative offices, a library, classrooms, a science laboratory, a marketing center, a restorative art laboratory, a preparation area, and a student lounge.

John A. Gupton College is nestled in the middle of downtown Nashville, just minutes from many of the cultural attractions that make Nashville a great city. Nashville, with its beautiful skyline, the state capitol, convention center, museums, and Riverfront Park, offers many features enjoyed by all ages. Music Row, the Grand Ole Opry, and the world-renowned General Jackson Showboat are just a few of the reasons Nashville is known as Music City U.S.A. Nashville is the home of numerous sporting events such as the National Football League "Tennessee Titans" and the National Hockey League "Nashville Predators" just to name a few.

Cultural landmarks are a part of the city's heritage dating back to the 1800s. The Hermitage, home of President Andrew Jackson with its lush grounds and garden paths shows you Nashville as it was almost 200 years ago. The world's only reproduction of the Greek Parthenon was built in 1897 for Nashville's Centennial Celebration. It still stands today in the beautiful Centennial Park just a few blocks from the College.

  - by placing the student in an off-campus practicum under the supervision of a preceptor
  - by graduating students who are marketable in the funeral profession
  - by preparing students to be able to perform satisfactorily on exams for professional licensure

PHILOSOPHY OF FUNERAL SERVICE EDUCATION

Recognizing the great demands placed on today's and tomorrow's practitioners of funeral service, Gupton College strives to educate the total person. Thus, the program is designed to include a liberal arts curriculum that constitutes the basic general education requirements of accredited colleges and universities and a professional experience that is the standard of excellence in the world of funeral service practice.

The College extends its services to the profession and at the same time fulfills its responsibility to the enrolled student by providing a 24-hour mortuary service. As a licensed funeral establishment, the College joins the caregiving function within the community while building the strength of philosophy and smoothness of technique within its students.

The central aim of John A. Gupton College is to have funeral service education personnel that are members of the human service profession, members of the community in which they serve, members that participate in the relationship between bereaved families and those engaged in the funeral service profession and knowledge of compliance and regulatory guidelines, as well as members that are sensitive to the responsibility for public health, safety, and welfare in caring for human remains.

Within this philosophy, Gupton College strives to achieve the following goals as expressed by the American Board of Funeral Service Education:

1. Explain the importance of funeral service professionals in developing relationships with the families and communities they serve.
2. Identify standards of ethical conduct in funeral service practice.
3. Interpret how federal, state, and local laws apply to funeral services in order to ensure compliance.
4. Apply principles of public health and safety in the handling and preparation of human remains.
5. Demonstrate technical skills in embalming and restorative art that are necessary for the preparation and handling of human remains.
6. Demonstrate skills required for conducting arrangement conferences, visitations, services, and ceremonies.
7. Describe the requirements and procedures for burial, cremation, and other accepted forms of the final disposition of human remains.
8. Describe methods to address the grief-related needs of the bereaved.
9. Explain management skills associated with operating a funeral establishment.
10. Demonstrate verbal and written communication skills and research skills needed for funeral service practice.

It is the commitment to educating the whole person that identifies the Gupton College philosophy and the faithfulness of the College to the commitment that leads the graduate toward his or her career fulfillment.
